Finding Aid for the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College Collections

The cataloging and housing, as well as, the publishing of this finding aid was made possible through the generous support of a grant from the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission. This grant has allowed us to move College records into the controlled environment of the archives, sort, properly house and record our collections. Although, this is an ongoing process, we have significantly increased our care and access to these important holdings. Researchers can now visit us and use primary records about the history of the College and papers of past presidents and deans, which were previously inaccessible. Finding aids are being created and updated on a regular basis.

All reference requests should be directed to Kim Tieger at ktieger@rrc.edu.

Outline of Record Groups and Series for the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College collections are divided into the following record groups and series:

1. Record Group - Ira Eisenstein Papers

Rabbi Ira Eisenstein was born in New York in 1906, son of Isaac and Sadie Eisenstein. He attended the New York public schools and De Witt Clinton High School. He graduated cum laude from Columbia College in 1927 and received the degree of Rabbi from the Jewish Theological Seminary (JTS) in 1931. He obtained his Ph.D. from Columbia in 1941 and was awarded an Honorary D.D. from JTS in 1958.

Rabbi Eisenstein served as leader of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism (SAJ) from 1931 to 1954. He was one of the founders of the Reconstructionist magazine and served as associate chairman of the Editorial Board from 1935 until 1959, when he became editor. In 1951, he was visiting homiletics professor at Jewish Theological Seminary (JTS). He also served as president of the Rabbinical Assembly of America from 1952 to 1954.

He served as Rabbi of Anshe Emet Synagogue in Chicago from 1954 to 1959. Upon returning to the East coast, he assumed his duties as president of the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation and editor of The Reconstructionist in 1959. He was the founding president of the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College, serving from 1968 to 1981.

This record group contains the following series:

R.S. 1. Reconstructionist Rabbinical College documents
[Ira Eisenstein, President of RRC (1968-1981)]

Materials relating to the chartering of RRC – this was a provisional approval.

Reconstructionist Rabbinical College was opened in October of 1968. (Dedication ceremonies were on October 13, 1968, which included a procession from Temple's Ritter Hall to the College building at 2304-08 North Broad Street, and affixing of the mezuzah.) The charter was subsequently granted on January 14, 1969. There were four visits by state representatives to the College between March 1969 and April 1972 to obtain continuance of approval. The applications, correspondence, supporting materials and subsequent yearly reports provide a concise view into the College's expanding programming, finances, administration and curriculum in the early years of existence. This initial approval of RRC to operate in Pennsylvania was a provisional accreditation status only and was unusual in that the College did not have the required $500,000 unencumbered endowment in hand. In correspondence dated 1978 with the state representative for chartering, the College is urged to comply and seek permanent charter status.

- Application for the chartering of the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Instruction.
6/24/1968
- Correspondence for the chartering of the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Instruction. Includes Approval of the Articles of Incorporation of RRC and charter to grant the Doctor of Hebrew Letters degree, October 1968.

Supporting materials for applications:

- a. The resolution adopted by the Board of Directors of the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation regarding the founding of RRC, the purchase of property, letters of commitment regarding Kaplan's books for the library at RRC and letters of commitment by advisors for services to RRC.
- b. Financial and curriculum information
- c. Board of Control, biographical data

d. Faculty, biographical data

Yearly follow-up reports to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania regarding operations at RRC:

- a. Data report regarding the first year of operation of RRC, submitted to Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Instruction, March 5, 1969.
- c. Data report regarding the second year of operation of RRC, submitted to Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Instruction, 1970.
- e. Data report regarding the fourth year of operation of RRC, submitted to Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Instruction, July 28, 1972.

Accreditation Materials and application for final approval for permanent accreditation.

- Correspondence from the Department of Education, Pennsylvania to the College regarding the status of provisional charter approval.
- Outline of steps to be taken for permanent accreditation of RRC, February 2, 1979.
- Materials submitted to the Commonwealth Department of Education for consideration of permanent accreditation of the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College, October 1979. This is a thick, detailed report regarding all aspects of operation, facilities, faculty, students, finances, calendar, etc.

RRC Financial Documents

- Auditor's Reports & Financial Statements 1973-78
- Other financial reports, budgets & notes, 1969-1996

Mordecai M. Kaplan Library

In a handwritten letter dated May 6, 1968, from Mordecai M. Kaplan to Ira Eisenstein, Kaplan affirms the provisions of his will to leave his entire personal library to Eisenstein. He also agrees in this letter to provide up to 1,000 volumes of this stated collection to the RRC library as a working library for students, on or before the opening date of the 1968 fall semester.

Among the many contributions of books to the initial library of the College, there were 7,000 volumes from the personal collection of Rabbi Max Schenk, including some rare editions, which were donated in 1969. In a letter from Eisenstein to Schenk, he believes the collection to have been worth $22,500.

The Mordecai M. Kaplan Library Fund.

In 1970, to commemorate Kaplan's 90th birthday, a special fundraising solicitation was developed specifically to fund the library through the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation. There are many files relating to the 90th birthday celebration.

R.S. 2            Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation, Inc.
Ira Eisenstein, President (1959 -1978)

January 15, 1940, the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation is established, primarily as a vehicle to take over the publication of The Reconstructionist, which had previously been published by the Society for the Advancement of Judaism (SAJ). It was established on the model of the Carnegie Foundation to seed a variety of cultural and intellectual expressions of Reconstructionist Judaism. In addition to the publication of the magazine, the organization also was the publisher of the Reconstructionist prayer books in the 1940s and 50s. (The New Haggadah, 1941; The Sabbath Prayer Book, 1945; The High Holiday Prayer Book, 1948; the Festival Prayer Book, 1958; Daily Prayer Book, 1963.) In later years, it served as the overarching organization, bridging both ideologically and administratively the congregational branch of Reconstructionism and the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College.

The Women’s Organization of the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation deserves special mention here, since many of the records included in this collection concern Reconstructionist subscription promotion and T’hiyah or Reconstructionist University Fellowship (RUF), which are products of the Women’s Organization’s efforts to promote Reconstructionism. Unlike other similar organizations whose primary purpose is philanthropic or sisterhood affiliation, this Women’s Organization concentrated efforts on the promotion of Judaism and self-knowledge. Initially a local New York metropolitan area group, expansion efforts to nationalize began in 1967.

The Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation ceased to exist as a financial or governance body in September 1982, no longer collecting or distributing funds, but still exists as a legal body.

The Reconstructionist Magazine

Ira Eisenstein:

- A founder of the magazine, 1935
- Associate Chairman of the Editorial Board, 1935-1959
- Editor, 1959

The Reconstructionist magazine was established October 8, 1934, by one vote of the Board of Trustees of the SAJ. It was to be published by the SAJ, but be, “an obligation of the individual members of the SAJ” “The Women’s Division, by voting a subsidy of $500, express their preference for the magazine over the continuation of the Sunday morning forums.” [from the Silver Jubilee Journal, S.A.J., May 21, 1947.] On January 15, 1940, the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation took over the publishing of the magazine.

“Dedicated to the advancement of Judaism as a religious civilization, to the upbuilding of Israel’s ancient homeland, and to the furtherance of universal freedom, justice and peace,” from the cover of the first issue of the journal.

A bi-weekly journal of Jewish opinion, the Reconstructionist magazine was issued 600 times in the first 30 years.

The Reconstructionist Press publishes new works and reprints.

R.S. 4            Federation of Reconstructionist Congregations and Havurot (FRCH)

Ira Eisenstein, Executive Director

In 1955, The Reconstructionist Fellowship of Congregations (RFC) was created as part of the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation. The first four affiliates were: Society for the Advancement of Judaism, NY; Temple Sinai, Buffalo; Temple Beth El Zedek, Indianapolis, Ind. and Niles Township Jewish Congregation, Skokie, Ill. Other congregations also “interested in various aspects of the Reconstructionist program” were present at the Conference: KAM (Chicago), Beth Emet Congregation (Evanston), Jewish Community Center (Aurora, Ill.), Anshe Emet (Chicago).

In 1961, the organization became known as Federation of Reconstructionist Congregations and Fellowships (FRCF)

In the mid 1970s, both the Reconstructionist Federation of Congregations and Havurot (RFCH) and the Reconstructionist Federation of Congregations and Fellowships (RFCF) names were used.

In the June 13, 1980 by-laws, the name officially became the Federation of Reconstructionist Congregations and Havurot (FRCH).

In 1995, Jewish Reconstructionist Federation replaced FRCH.

R.S. 6 Correspondence of Rabbi Ira Eisenstein

Letter subjects concern a wide range of Reconstructionist issues, relating to the Reconstructionist, fundraising, RRC, as well as personal letters.

Files are arranged alphabetically as originally filed by Ira Eisenstein. Letters are grouped by correspondent (when there were incoming and outgoing letters they were stapled together with the most recent date on top). Staples have been removed, but order maintained. Letters are ordered chronologically using the top letter in a grouping as the date.
