

Lobbying

Because of RRC's tax-exempt status, the College and its constituent bodies, including the regular faculty, the RSA and committees, may not take partisan political positions. They cannot support particular political parties or candidates, nor can they devote a substantial amount of time or money to lobbying for a partisan political position.